

Bad air at the North Intermediate?

by Frank Amato
Is something in the air at the North Intermediate School? Apparently so. Carbon Dioxide levels have been found to be above acceptable levels in some of the classrooms. According to a report dated December 9th 1996, by ATC Associates, an independent consulting firm hired by the Town of Wilmington to conduct Indoor Air Quality (IAQ) and Microbiological testing at the school. "All indoor air quality parameters were within normal guideline ranges with the exception of consistently elevated levels of carbon dioxide and low relative humidity levels throughout the school," said the report.

"Carbon dioxide is an odorless gas which is the primary by-product of human respiration. Carbon dioxide can cause discomfort at lower levels and can act as a mild narcotic and asphyxiant at higher concentrations. The amount of carbon dioxide present in indoor air is a good indicator of how well a building's ventilation system is able to exchange indoor air with outdoor air. If carbon dioxide levels exceed 800-1000 parts per million (ppm), the system is not effective," exhausting occupied spaces, and the result is a build-up of indoor contaminants," said the report.

There was a complaint of a musty odor in one of the classrooms after the heavy rains November 6th according to school Superintendent Dr. Geraldine A. O'Donnell. There were complaints of nausea and headaches. The room was evacuated and then evaluated by Roger Lessard, Public Building Superintendent and his staff. The odor was diagnosed as being caused by Science chemicals stored there and mildew on a window ledge in the room. The room was sanitized with a bleach solution and put back into use after it was deemed safe.

Building principal Doug Anderson being concerned about the safety of students and staff requested Lessard hire an outside consultant to evaluate the school's air quality.

The Town of Wilmington then contracted with ATC Associates Inc of Woburn, Environmental, Geotechnical, and Materials professionals. ATC visited the school on November 21st and sampled 19 locations. 11 of the 19 locations tested had a carbon Wilmington Police, Postal Supervisors, and State Police Bomb Squad peer into the interior of a briefcase after it was detonated by another explosive device by State Police Bomb Squad. Bomb? Briefcase? Oops!

By Frank Amato
Wilmington postal workers Frank Dodge and Jean Husen arrived for work as usual Friday morning not expecting anything unusual. But this was no ordinary day.

About 7:00 a.m. Dodge was preparing to get the loading dock ready for the day, when he discovered a suspicious briefcase on the loading dock.

Dodge then contacted Assistant Postmaster Bill Dunn who then immediately contacted authorities.

A local resident was walking his dog past the post office around 7:10 a.m. and waved to Dodge and saw nothing out of the ordinary. Upon his return trip around 7:20 the post office was crowded with police cars.

The State Police Bomb Squad proceeded to X-Ray the briefcase. Not liking what they saw in the first image, bomb technicians returned to the device tipped it and then took another image.

Police officers guarding the area then moved spectators further back when the image showed the charge inside, or so they thought.

Around 9:15 police then advised us that the device would be detonated. "Land ho, Land ho" shouted one of the officers. Two loud distinct explosions rocketed the air. The officers actions signaled the device was safe.

Postal authorities then indicated that the employees could enter the building. "I really don't want to go in there" said one clerk.

According to Wilmington Police Deputy Chief Nally "apparently it was someone's briefcase. The X-Ray didn't show what they thought the briefcase contained."

The Town Crier has learned that the briefcase belongs to a Burlington man.

Better safe than sorry.

Readying for the run are veteran Marathoner John Engdahl watching Andrea Ducey stretch in preparation to a practice trot (Photo by Frank Amato)

Carrying on the torch

by Frank Amato
Andrea Ducey, a graduate of Wilmington High School, and 1994 Plymouth State College graduate majoring in Health Science, is currently in training to run in her first Boston Marathon.

What makes this unique? Andrea has chosen to make her efforts a charitable one. In memory of her mother, Mary Lou Ducey, and inspired by local resident and marathon veteran John Engdahl, a leukemia survivor, Andrea is seeking sponsors for her Patriots day jaunt to benefit the Leukemia Society of America.

Ducey, has been an avid health and sports fanatic since childhood. In high school, she played soccer, ran track, and even dabbled in cheerleading.

The longest distance Andrea ran in high school was the 2 Mile. But she has always been running for distance. She began her training regime January 1st. "It's a lot of work, but I feel great afterwards," Ducey says. Andrea is now doing 13 mile training runs.

John Engdahl, a family friend who has completed 3 Boston Marathons, is taking the year off at the request of his wife, has been an inspiration to Andrea.

John's story begins when he decided to run the Boston Marathon to mark his 50th birthday and in preparation went in for a physical. Much to his surprise, he was diagnosed with leukemia. This brought back painful memories of his childhood as his sister lost her life to leukemia. But did this deter John? No! He successfully completed his bone marrow transplant and in 1993 embraced the newly born Team In Training program with the traditional John Engdahl spirit. He not only completed the Boston Marathon but was the top fundraiser (raising $5,600) in the 5 member team, which collectively raised over $13,500.

Anyone interested in sponsoring Andrea, or making a donation, is encouraged to contact her father Bob Ducey at 508-658-5531. Donations are tax deductible.

It's YOUR Money

WHAT'S BETTER THAN GETTING A RAISE?

In an age when we've learned to compare investments according to their after-tax returns, it has become smart to look at salaries that way, too. An employee who is offered a raise, for instance, will probably want to figure what that raise is worth after taxes and Social Security come out of it. Another tax-advantage alternative may well be to get an expense reimbursement account. Let's assume that the employee incurs out-of-pocket business expenses along the way—anything from parking and tolls to business calls on the road. They're a loss if the employee doesn't itemize and only deductible to the extent that they exceed 2 percent of adjusted gross income. But expense reimbursements through an expense account are tax free to the employee and deductible to the employer, within certain limits. In fact, the employer is better off paying expenses instead of a raise, because there are no employment taxes or FICA owed on them.

Good tax ideas can be good business. You can count on our tax knowhow at

We need to recognize this opportunity

Dear Larz:

As a direct outcome of the Town of Wilmington Space Needs Study, the recommendation has been made to build a combined Public Safety Building as well as a new Middle School. This recommendation will accommodate both current and projected needs. The School Committee and Permanent Building Committee unanimously agree and support these projects. The Board of Selectmen has approved the combined ballot question on which we will vote April 19.

We, as taxpayers and voters, need to recognize this as an opportunity for improvements to the quality of life in this Town. These investments in our future are extremely important to all of us given the rapid growth in our community. We need to continue the process of providing state-of-the-art facilities for the Police and Fire Departments. No less important is the expansion of classroom space to meet the needs of a growing student population.

It is up to each of us to be pro-active in planning the future of this Town. We share the responsibility to ensure that our Public Safety Departments have the facilities and tools to protect and serve us. Our children are dependent on us to also provide them with the facilities and tools to prepare them for future education and employment.

The next step is for all of us to become better informed on these issues. My message is simply put: make your voice heard at the polls on April 19.

Sincerely,
Rosemary A. Greco
Towpath Drive, Wilmington.

Thank you, Janice!

Dear Larz:

The Wilmington Family Counseling Services wishes to thank Janice Wright from REMAX for her fundraising efforts on our behalf. Each year we try to raise enough funds from the town, United Way, "Friends of the Family" mailings, and other fund raising projects to provide counseling services to everyone in town who needs them and cannot afford to pay for them. This year we have added a new service - medication evaluations by a psychiatrist - the only one currently in the community. We are urgently seeking additional funds from the town and other sources to be able to offer these psychiatric services at a cost people can afford regardless of their income or insurance coverage.

Janice Wright became aware of our fund raising struggles and decided she personally could do something to help. She is advertising in this week's paper to donate $250 to us if someone reading her ad lists a house with her to sell. So please, if you are planning to sell your house, give Janice a call so that your listing can help us be a family safety net in the community for people in need.

We applaud Janice Wright for her creativity and ingenuity and welcome any other fund raising efforts on our behalf. It takes many people in a community to weave a family safety net. We cannot do it alone.

Carol M. Golub, Ph.D.
Executive Director

This child cares, very much!

Dear Larz:

I realize that the Christmas season has long since passed, but I wanted to share with you and readers of the Town Crier, something special my son brought home from school.

My son's name is Brad, and he is nine years old. He's a student at the Woburn Street School and loves to play hockey on his Mite C and Dual State Mite D Hockey Teams. He is very "sports focused," so I was very pleased when he came home from school with the attached paper.

Brad's grandmother has multiple sclerosis and I never realized that Brad was very aware of what it meant. As you'll see from the attached paper he is very aware, and understands the severity.

Again, I wanted to share this because I know his grandmother is very proud of him and I thought her friends at AIM might also like to see that even children care very much about what they're going through.

Sincerely,
Lynn M. Fraser
If I were a gift

by Brad Fraser
"If I were a gift, I'd be a cure for M.S. and give myself to anyone who needs me. I'd be a cure because I think that no one deserves to have M.S. It would be bad if a sports player had to give up his or her job because of this terrible disease."

Every day more and more innocent people either lose feeling of a body part or get killed by a disease. That is why I'm here to stop all diseases and to cure people who already have the disease. The reason I want a cure is that I know someone who has M.S. and with me, the world will be a little better."

We need these buildings upgraded

Dear Larz:

I am writing about my concerns for our growing town. Let me start by saying that my husband and I moved into town almost 10 years ago. We picked Wilmington for a number of different reasons: one of which was the small town atmosphere we felt Wilmington offered. Over the past 10 years, we have seen a tremendous amount of residential building, but none of the public buildings have undergone any upgrades.

I believe that it is time we, as a town, take the time to vote on such important issues. The town has grown, but the police and fire stations remain the same. The buildings are old and their condition is hardly acceptable. We need these buildings upgraded so that there is enough room for the growing staff, as well as the equipment now needed to keep our town a safe place to live.

Our police force would operate in a more efficient manner if housed in one building. I feel that this also holds true for the firefighters. A public safety building would be a perfect way to get all involved with the 911 system operating out of one facility, while also allowing sufficient space for the fire engines, etc.

This brings us to the issue of a new school. As a parent of children in the Wilmington schools, I have taken the time to tour many of the schools to see just how bad the space problem is. What I found is that we need more classrooms. The schools seem to be utilizing all the space they have, but the school population keeps growing. They are running out of classrooms for our children. Specialists are operating out of closets, music is being practiced in the locker rooms, and subjects like music and art are now "on a cart."

I realize that the expense will raise our taxes, but since the town is asking for a debt exclusion override, the tax rate will decrease once the debt has been paid off. We will also receive a 65 percent reimbursement for the school. This is an important issue for everyone because we are faced with public safety as well as the education of our children. I hope that everyone will take the time to learn more about these important issues and vote in the upcoming election. These issues affect everyone.

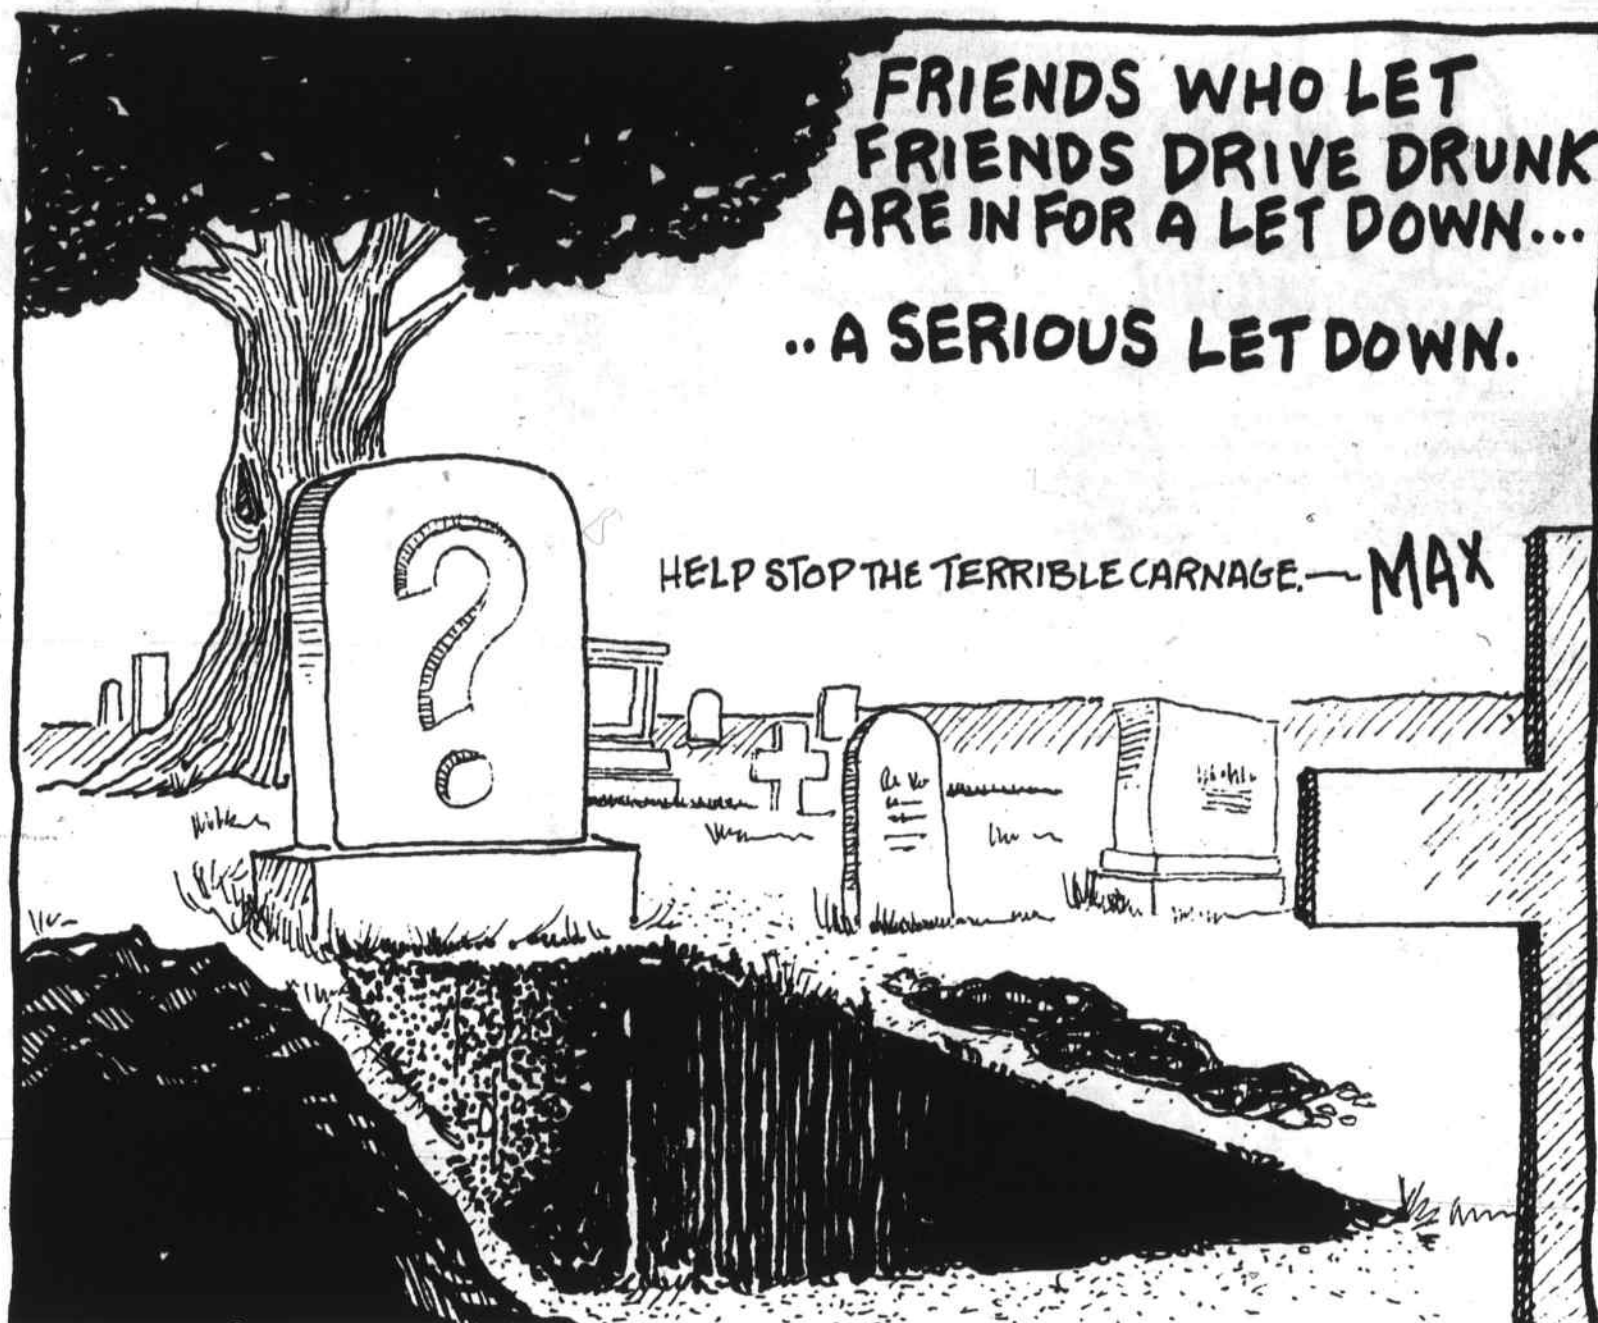

Sincerely,
Therese Good

People Profile These Forrests stand out

by Allan Jay

Hugh, Alice and Muriel Forrest of Wilmington are fine, friendly folks who lead lives that are interesting, stimulating and even inspiring. They pursue numerous worthy activities and pastimes that keep them constantly busy and occupied.

Hugh's spirit of adventure and achievement is simply huge; he could justifiably be called Formidable Mr. Forrest. He keeps physically fit in part by cutting wood, usually 10 or 12 chords a year, for the wood-burning stove; this winter hand surgery obliged him to reduce his output to 4 or 5 chords, probably enough to keep the family as warm as toast at least until his 89th birthday on March 17.

He is a devoted student of languages; he began with Latin, French and German as a schoolboy in his native Nova Scotia. Outside of school hours he studied Yiddish, which is still of special interest to him. Muriel, his sister, reports that when he was young he could learn a language in two weeks!

His current favorite subjects of linguistic study are the modern versions of Greek and Hebrew. He attended Hebrew classes at Hebrew College in Brookline; he and a classmate became friends and meet regularly at Hugh's home to practice speaking the language. Hugh also uses audio tapes for drill, and reads children's books in Hebrew because the degree of difficulty is not too advanced.

Similarly he has studied Lithuanian, Polish and Armenian; in 1986 he began his exploration of Cambodian and, to a lesser degree, Laotian, when he was assigned to do Mormon missionary work with recently-arrived refugees in Lowell. He worked his way through more than two dozen Cambodian language tapes in this connection, which he found invaluable when giving help to the newcomers. He tutored them in English, assisted with Sunday School, and so on, until 1993; he is still in touch with many of the friends he made during this time.

Hugh's formal education began in Nova Scotia in rather modest and unpretentious facilities; his first three academic edifices were one-room schoolhouses! When he was in the first grade at his first school in Mink Cove, Digby County, he had a special advantage - or was it a disadvantage? His Aunt Laura was the teacher!

He has a remarkable memory connected with a momentous event that occurred on December 6, 1917. His family on that day was in the process of moving to a new home from New Grafton in Queens County, where his father had been born in January, 1868, and where Hugh attended school for a couple of years; the family members were in a horse and wagon some 90 miles from Halifax when they felt the earth tremble in an ominous manner. When they arrived at the village of Milford they were told that the Germans had blown up

Halifax; it wasn't until two weeks later that they learned what had really happened. The New Columbia Encyclopedia (New York, 1975) tells the story thus:

"During both world wars the port [Halifax] was an important naval and air base, convoy terminal, and embarkation center. In 1917 a vessel carrying explosives was rammed in the harbor, causing an explosion that killed about 1,800 people, injured thousands more, and destroyed the northern part of the city."

Hugh's exposure to Cambodian culture encouraged him to expand a special passion he has enjoyed for many decades: philatelic delectables, that is, stamp collectibles! He put together a complete collection of Cambodian stamps, consisting of some 200 items, dating from the 1930's to about 1975, the period when the country was part of France's Indo-Chinese colonial system. Because of lack of time to devote to this aspect of his hobby Hugh sold this collection and about a year-and-a-half ago similarly disposed of a specialized accumulation of the stamps of Palestine; he retains his general, rather comprehensive Israel holdings, but isn't adding material as actively as he did in the recent past.

He does, however, continue to add to his collection of more than 20 Bibles, which he reads assiduously, since he has been a very serious Biblical student for a very long time. He reads also many selections from his extensive library; he is currently devouring a recent book about Richard Nixon, one of his favorite historical personalities.

The shortage of available spare time has reduced his participation in another favorite avocation, the great game of chess, which he has pursued avidly for many years. Until very recently he played chess regularly every week with a neighbor; it is hoped the practice will be resumed as soon as time allows.

Hugh for 40 years was a member of The Bond Astronomical Club at Harvard University. The great, world-famous astronomer, Dr. Harlow Shapley (1885-1972), Hugh's friend and associate, was its first president, and Hugh was its last at the time of its disbanding. The New Columbia Encyclopedia states that Dr. Shapley was astronomer at the Mount Wilson Observatory from 1914 to 1921, when he became director of the Harvard Observatory; he studied especially the structure of the universe, and determined by deduction the approximate size and structure of the Milky Way, the position of its center and the location of the sun in this galaxy. Hugh has many fond recollections of this remarkable scientist.

When a telescope that Hugh had obtained from the Amateur Telescope Makers of Boston, with which he was associated, was stolen from his home after he conducted outdoor public observations with it for friends and neighbors, members of his church gave him a new telescope as a token of their esteem for him; he still has it but doesn't engage now in astronomy as much as he once did.

Hugh makes daily diary entries, as does his sister Muriel; indeed most members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints maintain family histories in "Books of Remembrance."

The gathering, preservation and study of all kinds of genealogical data is of very great importance to the church, which has established extremely comprehensive and sophisticated procedures for conducting world-wide endeavors in these areas.

Hugh and his wife Alice participate in the recording and processing of data in the Family Record Extraction Program using a computer in their home. Teams of photographers all over the world duplicate relevant documents of whatever kind - official and unofficial birth, death and marriage

Reading Light distributes funds

The Reading Municipal Light Department (RMLD) recently distributed the second 1996 semi-annual in-lieu-of-tax payment to each of the four communities on the RMLD service territory. A total of $288,493.20 was distributed in December, bringing the total 1996 in-lieu-of-tax payment to $576,986.40.

The 1996 payment represents two percent of the RMLD's net utility electric plant. According to RMLD General Manager Len Rucker, the payment was distributed to the four communities in two equal payments, the first being distributed on June 30, 1996. Distribution of the payment is determined by the 1995 sales of kilowatt hours for all four towns as stated in the RMLD's 20 year agreement with the four member communities of Reading, North Reading, Wilmington and Lynnfield. Each town receives a predetermined percentage of total kilowatt hour sales.

The December payments were distributed as follows:

Reading $54,467.52, $108,935.03 total; Lynnfield $16,588.36, $33,176.72 total; North Reading $44,312.56, $88,625.11 total; Wilmington $173,124.77, $346,249.54 total

"The RMLD is proud to be a part of the four communities we serve," manager Rucker said. "Through these semi-annual in-lieu-of-tax payments, we provide assistance to the communities to help them fund vital services to residents and business owners in each town."

Obituary

Charles E. DiBella 40 years in Wilmington

Charles E. DiBella, 80, a resident of Wilmington since 1955, died at Lahey-Hitchcock Medical Center in Burlington, after being stricken at his late residence on February 10, 1997.

Mr. DiBella was an ardent sportsman and a life member of the Andover Sportsman's Club. He was a Naval veteran of World War II and served as a pharmacist mate I/C. He worked for General Electric in Lynn and Everett as a safety officer administrator.

He is survived by his wife Frances E. (Callahan) DiBella, two daughters, Elaine F. Raia of No. Reading and Janet E. Monetta of Uruguay, S.A.; three grandchildren; two brothers, Josephine Rich of Florida and Theresa Ford of Wrentham.

Visiting hours will be held at the Nichols Funeral Home, 187 Middlesex Ave., (Rt. 62), Wilmington Friday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m. with services at 8 p.m. with the Rev. Herb Taylor of the Wilmington United Methodist Church officiating.

In lieu of flowers, contributions made in his memory to the American Heart Association, 20 Speen St., Framingham, MA 01701-4688 will be appreciated.

Richard A. Kopacz Vietnam Veteran at 55

Richard A. Kopacz, 55, died Thursday evening, February 6, 1997 at his residence after a lengthy illness. He was the husband of Anita A. (Thing) Kopacz, with whom he celebrated their 30th wedding anniversary last July 5.

Born in Lowell, January 29, 1942, he was the son of the late Adolph E. (Eddie) and Nettie (Hopkins) Kopacz. He lived in Lowell most of his life, moving to Tewksbury within the past seven months.

He was a U.S. Army veteran of the Vietnam War era and was a self employed painting contractor who also worked for the Mar-Temp Painting Company.

He was a recreational bass fishing enthusiast and spent many hours with son on area lakes. As a resident of Lowell, he was a communicant of the Immaculate Conception Church and since moving to Tewksbury was a parishioner of St. William's.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by one son and daughter-in-law, Richard R. and his wife Erica (Jutras) Kopacz of Lowell; one daughter, Tricia Daigle of Lowell; one sister, Alice Malaret of Lowell; two brothers, Edward Kopacz of Tucson, AZ, and Robert Kopacz of Japan; two aunts, Muriel Kopacz of Dracut, Giezel Kopacz of Lowell, his father and mother-in-law, Celia (Fantini) and Leroy Thing of Tewksbury and numerous nieces, nephews and cousins.

His funeral was held Monday in St. William's Church followed by burial in Tewksbury Cemetery. Memorial contributions to the Greater Lowell V.N.A., Hospice Program, P.O. Box 1965, Lowell, MA 01852 will be appreciated.

Arrangements were under the direction of The Tewksbury Funeral Home.

certificates, church, corporate, legal and immigration records, etc., and transmit them home for evaluation and archival conservation.

Microfilm reproductions are expertly analyzed for accuracy in a procedure with several layers of checks and double-checks that culminates in permanent Family Search records in Salt Lake City, Utah. These records are carefully protected in large earthquake-proof vaults. Copies are sent to about 350 Family History Centers around the world; the nearest one in this region is in Nashua, New Hampshire.

Alice and Hugh have worked together in many other enterprises, such as building their own home on Lake Street; they began the adventure in 1953 and moved in in August of '54. Contractors excavated the cellar and poured the foundation; an expert electrician installed the wiring and church friends helped raise the roof. Apart from that help, the couple did the rest of the work themselves, using sturdy building construction and carpentry techniques that Hugh learned from his father, who was a highly-skilled builder.

Solar panels that were later installed with noble intentions worked fine for a while, then failed to perform properly.

Alice and Hugh climbed many mountains in several states, primarily in New England and New York, especially in the early years of their marriage.

More recently, in the early 1990's, they were the proprietors of the Busy-As-A-Bee resale shops at two locations on Main Street.

During World War II Alice served in a medical capacity at the Chelsea Naval Hospital in the Waves (Women Accepted for Volunteer Emergency Service), the great wartime program that was created in 1942 to release male naval personnel for sea duty; 86,000 women participated.

Alice collects elephants of virtually every description - REALLY collects elephants! She has 1,504! When she was asked recently if the presence of all these ponderous pachyderms might possibly imply that she is perhaps a Republican, Alice replied, "I don't collect elephants because I'm a Republican, but maybe I'm a Republican because I collect elephants!" With a veritable rash of elephantine figures in numerous spots, couldn't she, or shouldn't she, be thought of as a pachydermatologist?

In addition to all this, Alice is a superlative cook, an expert VCR manager and super-duper family chauffeur.

Muriel maintains a menagerie of figurines consisting of many kinds of animals; she has accumulated a collection numbering quite a few hundred items, much to her merriment and delight. She is a voracious consumer of novels, mostly mysteries and romances, and other reading matter, some of a religious nature; she reads while ruling her animal kingdom, surrounded by her silent subjects.

Muriel also is a stamp collector. She solves truly awesome numbers of word puzzles, which she buys in bulk when opportunities arise, and she is a rather good photographer. She too has done genealogical work for her church. She applies her numerous abilities to assisting in many aspects of household management, and in offering cheerful conversation and gracious hospitality to friends and family, guests and visitors. She is profoundly convinced, in large measure through her religious beliefs, which she takes very seriously indeed, that all members of humankind are brothers and sisters and should conduct themselves lovingly and patiently toward one another without regard to differences of any kind.

Muriel, who will celebrate her 84th birthday February 21st, says that she is especially thankful that she has Hugh and Alice in her life.

While she unreservedly and unabashedly proclaims her loving attitudes toward all creatures great and small, she does like to point out that she has a very special place in her heart for kittens and cats - real, living-and-breathing kittens and cats, not just figurines.

The Forrest family is a musical one. Hugh says he "can make a noise" with his "squeezebox", his accordion, which he will play upon request without too much persuasion. He used to play the guitar, too. There is a player piano in the dining room with 300 rolls waiting at the ready; Hugh fondly recalls that in the 1930's family, friends and neighbors used to gather around that piano on Saturday nights and sing together for three or four hours.

Hugh and Alice have a daughter, Nancy, who has eight children, all of whom are "musical"; one granddaughter, Erika Harston, who is in her second year of college at Brigham Young University, is a concert violinist who has traveled extensively with orchestras.

In many ways, the Forrest family of Wilmington, nestled in their charming home a stone's throw from the remains of the Middlesex Canal, is a quintessentially American family; Alice hails from Vermont, where the family lived for quite some time and was in part shaped and formed by that state's invigorating character and rock-ribbed good sense, both of which are amply manifested in this most remarkable household.

COMPARISON SHOPPING

QUESTION: Does one insurance company have the lowest prices in all forms of policies?

ANSWER: When buying insurance, as in any other purchase, comparison shopping will give you the best chance of buying the best product at the lowest price. All companies offer some plans with low prices, but if a company has a low-cost life insurance plan, this does not mean it will have a low-cost auto insurance plan. A company may have a competitive auto price in one city and a not-so-competitive price somewhere else.

Independent insurance agents can offer you a variety of insurance plans from many companies and come up with the best plan for your needs.

AN INDEPENDENT agent will check many companies and find the best plan for your needs.

Children's Opportunity Fair

The Tewksbury Public School Town wide Parent Advisory Council has begun to plan the fifth annual Children's Opportunity Fair. This Fair features representatives from organizations which provide recreational, athletic, enrichment and cultural programs for children. The organizations represent summer, after school and weekend programs.

The Fair will take place Tuesday April 1 at the John W. Wynn Middle School from 6:30 to 8:30 p.m. Last year about 350 people attended the fair and had the opportunity to meet with program representatives and obtain program information.

The Town wide Parent Advisory Council extends an invitation to any organization which provides programs for children to participate in the fair. Please contact the Office of the Superintendent at 139 Pleasant St., 851-7347 to register as a participant.

Spectacular car crash

361 Whipple road in Tewksbury was the scene of a spectacular car crash Saturday.

5 people were seriously injured when the vehicle they occupied, which was traveling at a high rate of speed went out of control and hit a tree and ending up on resting against a stone wall at that address.

Ambulances from Tewksbury, Billerica and Trinity Ambulance Company transported the victims. 2 of the five people were mediflighted to a Boston hospital.

According to Tewksbury Fire Department Acting Captain Steve

Cotugno "It was quite a confusing scene up there. One person was trapped inside the vehicle, we were planning to use equipment to extricate him, but somehow we got him out without it," said Cotugno.

"It's too bad the North street fire station was closed. If that had been open, we would have had a second Tewksbury ambulance there right away. But, I really have to commend everyone at the scene, they really did a great job."

Cotugno added, The Town Crier has learned that alcohol was involved in the cause of the crash.

A KEY TO RETIREMENT - THE SECOND HOME

Buying a second home as rental property makes a great centerpiece to your retirement plan. It forces you to make regular savings in the form of mortgage payments that become your equity. You only need cash for the down payment, and you should make sure that your monthly rental payments will cover the mortgage and any additional expenses. This is a real possibility if you buy the right house at the right price because a good single-family house should always stay rented. Your investment money is subject to less income tax, and the interest and property taxes may be deductible. Housing has appreciated in value all over the country in recent years, making a second home an important hedge against inflation. Most experts predict that interest rates for fixed-rate and adjustable mortgages should remain in single digits for the foreseeable future, so it should be easy to acquire financing with a small down payment. Call me with your real estate questions. I have helped hundreds of people to sell their homes and properties—and to purchase the home of their dreams.

Shawsheen School news

On Friday, Feb. 7, three of the first grades performed a wonderful play called Over the River and Through the Woods. They sang the cutest songs. The three classes were Mrs. Barry, Miss Peterson and Mrs. Forestiere. All of the 66 children had speaking parts. Thanks to Mrs. Forestiere's rewriting of the play. There were four scenes. The background changed for every scene. Ms. Barry made a speech thanking all those who helped. Mrs. Martell, an instructional aide and Mrs. Demos a grandparent volunteer for their assistance during the production. Mr. Donovan and Miss Favreau the music and art specialists were thanked for all their help.

The custodians for cleaning up all of the left over papers. The kids invited the parents down for refreshments after the play. It was a great time for everyone!

The Cat's Meow: The story of J.D. and Rags

by Charlotte Cooper

What do you do when you are about to open up your first restaurant, the Board of Health Inspector is on his way, and you hear pitiful little meows coming from the restaurant's bar? Well, you follow the pitiful cries, locate the tiny creature no bigger than your fist who is uttering them, and you bring it home. Then you name the furry little kitten 'J.D.' after your first restaurant, "J.D. and Co., Restaurant," in Billerica.

What do you do when you open the front door of your house and find a tiny creature on the doorstep, all battered, thin, and hungry, no bigger than your hand, who finally asks to come inside? Well, you bring him in, clean him up, feed him, and then you name your second restaurant 'J. Rags' after him.

But there is more about these two furry friends than being named for restaurants.

Their story is a special one. You see, just before J.D.'s opened four years ago, Bob Pendergast visited the Humane Society. There were two little kittens among the orphaned animals up for adoption. "I knew I could save only one of the kittens, and I brought him to the restaurant as a surprise present for Debbie." He picked the orphaned tiny orange and white kitten for Debbie Chisholm as a "grand opening" present for their new restaurant "J.D. and Co. Restaurant," in Billerica. He hid the box, with the kitten inside it, at the end of the bar in the restaurant. Debbie, who wasn't very far away, heard the pitiful little cries. "I hear meows," she said, and she looked at Bob. "Did someone leave the door open? I think there's a cat in here!" This was beginning of their relationship with J.D.; the soft furry creature from the Humane Society who had at last found a home.

J.D. grew up into a beautiful, short-haired, 15 or so pound sleek orange and white cat. Very noble and proud in stature with a serious "big brother" personality, he is the independent ruler of the house. It's this special "big brother" personality of J.D.'s that gave life, in more ways than one, to another friendship.

In February of last year, Debbie and Bob began seeing a scrawny kitten near their door who was following J.D. around. The little creature had apparently befriended J.D. and followed him home hoping for something to eat. "I think the poor little thing must have been abandoned or abused because he was very afraid of people at first," Debbie said. "He was also very scary-looking. Quite a bit of his fur was missing, he looked wild and maybe sickly, and he was so skinny you could see his ribs!" Debbie and Bob began seeing more of the little thing, but for a long time he was too afraid to accept people and would not come into the house. They left food outside their door for him. Finally, the skinny little kitten got brave enough to follow his friend J.D. into the house.

At that time, Bob was actively searching for a suitable location for restaurant number two, and they were also trying to find a home for the little kitten, now called 'Rags.' Overtime, Rags' hair grew back and he gained weight. Like the story of the Ugly Duckling, he transformed into a beautiful fluffy, white, long-haired, blue-eyed cat of about 7 pounds. Locating a place for the new restaurant was easier than finding a new home for the tiny kitten, and so he stayed.

By the time they found a location for the new restaurant, Rags and J.D. were so attached to each other that Rags became a permanent part of the family. The friendship that developed between the cats made it easy to find a suitable name for Bob and Debbie's new restaurant in Tewksbury, "J. Rags Bar and Grill." "We chose 'J. Rags' Bar and Grill because it has a special meaning to us. We found J.D. and J.D. found Rags. They are both a very big part of our lives now and we wouldn't change that. You could say it's a 'Rags to riches' story."

The story of J.D. and Rags is also one of the topics of conversation at their restaurant. "They both have such opposing personalities, and that's what makes them so special to us," Debbie says. Rags' mischief and J.D.'s composition and elegance create new cat tales daily, and Debbie and Bob never become tired of telling them. Like people, the cats' opposing traits are the elements that make life interesting. They are also the same traits that brought two orphaned kittens a new life and add meaning to a name on a restaurant sign.

And, for anyone curious to know, Rags' and J.D.'s favorite dinner on the menu is the purrime rib!

From whence this Valentine?

By Allan Jay

Saint Valentine was a Christian priest in ancient Rome who was martyred about 270 A.D. His feast day, February 14, is very close to the pagan Roman fertility festival known as Lupercalia, an occasion dedicated to frolicsome feasting and whoopee-making on February 15. Thus it happens that his day is associated with amorous inclinations. In the Middle Ages he came to be thought of in connection with lovebirds who were having problems, for verily the course of True Love apparently has never run smoothly.

In this region one has many options for soothing and sweetening one's Significant Other. For example y'all could attend the Valentine Dinner Show featuring a "Tribute To Elvis" by Eddie D. at the Northmeadow Health and Racquet Club, 20 Carter Street in Tewksbury on The Day. Call (508) 851-3901 for more information and to make reservations.

The charming and delightful Harvest Gift Shop in the Wilmington Plaza, on Main Street/Route 38 has numerous heartwarming aids to Amour; especially attractive and nice are the eminently collectible Annalee Valentine dolls that are hand-made in New Hampshire. The Precious Moments series offers lovely new Valentine figurines this year. (508) 658-3132.

Also in the Plaza is Robert P. Flaherty, Jeweler par excellence, who offers a marvelous assortment of glittering, elegant, enticing bijoux, baubles, bangles and beads arrayed in a splendiferous manner guaranteed to help you choose just the right wherewithal with which to win your Sweetie's heart, whatever its temperature. (508) 657-8338.

Nearby in the Plaza is Main Street Florist which offers everything your little, or big, heart desires from the wide world of floral delights and diversions. (508) 657-4040.

Kay's Hallmark in the Oakdale Mall, 1900 Main Street, Tewksbury (508) 851-7790 offers the Precious Moments line and has the Valentine Barbie Doll at $50 that will surely enchant your littler Loved One.

Mahoney's Garden Center, 1609 Main Street/Route 38 in Tewksbury (508) 851-2712 offers native-grown and South American roses, orchids and many exotic flowering plants for creating a magical amorous ambience.

Your romantic imagination, aided by Cupid's cooperation, should assure you and your Valentine a memorable time on fabled February 14th this Friday. Go for it!

ATC made several recommendations to provide make-up air to all areas of the school. Those included: making sure that all vents are unobstructed; trimming any shrubs close to outside vents; and opening windows weather permitting between classes to allow outside air into the building.

"The building was built in 1962 and the configuration of some of the classrooms have changed, and we have made some changes in room usage and are doing everything possible to help the situation," Anderson said.

During Thanksgiving week, Mr. Anderson became concerned about an unusually large amount of absences and spoke with school Nurse Rita McCabe and requested that the Massachusetts Department of Health (DPH) be contacted and made aware of the situation. McCabe then contacted Norma Rushton, Nursing Coordinator for the Wilmington Public School system. Rushton then contacted the DPH and referred McCabe to the Amy Ernest and Amy Catalano and Brian MacDonald of Wilmington helped make things a little easier for elderly members of the Cambodian and Latino communities in Lowell recently. All three are students in the Physical Therapy Department at UMass, Lowell and were among 100 students who sponsored a fund raising event to benefit the minority elders.

The event was a wheelchair basketball game pitting the University's physical therapy students and faculty against the Bay State Wheelers, a team of wheelchair bound athletes from Worcester. Proceeds from the game were presented to the Cambodian Mutual Assistance Association and the Hispanic Outreach for Peace and Empowerment organization, to help provide translation services for Cambodian and Latino elders using health care services in Lowell.

The DPH and the Wilmington Board of Health inspected the school on January 30th, and conducted air quality tests. School officials are awaiting the report from the DPH, which is expected by the end of February.

During the course of investigating this story, this reporter interviewed Dr. O'Donnell on Tuesday (2/11/97) and she stated: "Because of your phone call (last week) we have decided not to wait for the report from DPH. We will inform the parents at the Parents Advisory Council (PAC) meeting tonight, and have a report at the school meeting for the School Committee meeting tomorrow."

"We didn't want to alarm people. I mentioned it at regular meetings of the School Advisory Council (SAC). I kept my superiors advised about the situation at all times, verbally and in writing," Anderson said.

"Mr. Anderson has been on top of this situation from the start. He is taking this situation very seriously," said Dr. O'Donnell of Anderson.

"We are serious about the quality of the environment and committed to providing a healthy atmosphere for everyone here," Anderson said.

Wilmington Library notes

Wilmington Library news

National pet month

The month of February is National Pet Month offering animal lovers an opportunity to focus attention the traditional and untraditional animals who are our pets. The library has information on choosing a pet or a particular cat or dog breed. If you are having trouble choosing a name for your pet the books on pet names may be helpful.

To be a responsible pet owner, it is important to have information on proper pet care. Both the Children's and Adult departments have numerous books which cover grooming, nutrition and training your pet. New books recently added to the Adult Collection on the Subject of pets include: The Care of Reptiles and Amphibians in Captivity by Chris Mattison; The New Saltwater Aquarium Handbook by George C. Blasiola and Mutts America's Dogs: A Guide to Choosing, Loving and Living with Our Most Popular Canine by Brian Kilcommons and Michael Capuzzo.

According to Sharon Ruetenik, the display in the Children's Room encourages children to learn more about their favorite pet. The novice cat owner can check out Our New Kitten or satisfy a curiosity about a particular breed of dog with a series where each book focuses on a different breed. And if someone just wants a good animal story, there is always the Rotten Ralph series featuring the cat we all love to hate or Bernard Weber's perennial favorite Lyle the Crocodile.

Children's librarian recommends

Two recent additions to the Children's Collection are Talking to Angels by Esther Watson and Perfect Pancakes if you Please by William Wise. In Perfect Pancakes, a greedy King learns that one can have too much of a good thing as his beloved pancakes crowd the castle and most to his kingdom. Illustrated by Caldecott Medal Winner Richard Egielski, this picture book will delight primary grades with its rich illustrations and fast paced story. Esther Watson creates a touching tribute to her autistic sister in Talking to Angels. Childlike drawings accompany a simple text that explains autism by comparing and contrasting it to more conventional behavior. Young listeners will enjoy this sensitive appraisal of being different.

Toys and space

The Children's Room is often filled with active toddlers, preschoolers, parents, and students from elementary through middle school. The Children's department staff has found that a child building a circuitous train track on limited floor space or building a block tower is a safety hazard for staff and patrons walking in the room. Active play also increases the noise level. In order to provide such toys as a wooden train set or building blocks in the library, a separate play area is needed where toddlers can play away from the area where students do their homework or a mother reads softly to a child.

Unfortunately, inadequate space and building design prevent the library from creating such a play area. Consequently, the toys have had to be removed from the Children's room in order to insure safety, better noise control and provide a space for a small book shelf. Parents whose young children have enjoyed playing with these toys on previous visits to the library might want to take a small toy with them on their next visit to soften any disappointment.

Wilmington police are continuing their search for a suspect in the January 27th early Sunday morning assault of John F. Burke, 22, of Wilmington.

According to Wilmington police inspector Pat King, the suspect and Burke had some sort of argument in the parking lot of Simards Roast Beef on Main st., which carried over to the Wilmington Plaza across from Simards.

Burke was found a short time later unconscious. According to King, he had been struck several times with an unknown object.

Mr. Burke was Medi-Flighted to Massachusetts Hospital where he remains in a coma.

Police have recovered a cup from the scene which is now being processed and may provide clues as to the attackers identity.

Police are looking for a white male approximately 22 years of age, with sandy brown hair and thick glasses. He was driving a 1990's red Ford Thunderbird with two occupants, with the possibility of a third, a female in the back seat.

Anyone who might recognize the suspect, or have any information concerning this incident is urged to call Inspector Pat King at 657-8082.

Prescription bill

I checked with our politician's offices last week on the Senior Prescription Plan Bill. A story covered in the Boston Globe, that would pay up to $500 a year on prescription medications for seniors 60 and older, with incomes of no more than $10,300. I was told the Bill was passed by the House of Representatives. A call to Senator Bruce Tarr's office explained that the Senate had just received the Bill. Therefore it has not been finalized. When it is, the Department of Elder Affairs in Boston will receive it.

After reviewing the contents of the Bill and preparing applications for the program, all information and material for applying will be sent to Senior Citizen Centers throughout the State for administration. I will have all the information in this paper when it is received.

Vial of life

We are trying to get all our seniors under our Vial of Life Program. To do so we are having our meals drivers, minibuses and respite care drivers assisting us in getting seniors to complete the Vial of Life forms. Many seniors do not understand the importance of having a Vial of Life form completed on their person. This completed form can be an asset in saving your life. It has done just that on several occasions.

On the form will be your name, address, telephone number, insurance coverage, next of kin, their name and telephone number, medical problems and medications being taken. We hear on television and read in the papers of a person being given the wrong medication. That happens to elders more than we like to hear. We never know when we are alone a medical problem comes on quickly, a fall in the home or an automobile accident, can leave us unable to communicate with those trying to help us.

Without knowing what medications we are taking or what our medical problems are, another medication could be given that would conflict with another we taken, that could cause death. If you have a Vial of Life completed keep it in your wallet or purse at all times, continually updating it.

This will eliminate an error like mentioned above from happening.

The larger form you complete will be kept in our files until needed in an emergency. As was the case a week ago. One of our seniors, living alone had been taken to the hospital, where she later died. She had no children, very few friends. Not knowing the next of kin the hospital did not know who to notify. We were called with her Vial of Life form, in our file. The next of kin's name and telephone number was on it. We gave the information to the hospital who notified the person, of the senior's passing.

We do not ask for anything on the form, only information to save your life. You will receive a little red folder to put the smaller form in, along with your Medicare, supplemental insurance, and primary care doctor's cards. All needed when taking you to the hospital by ambulance or otherwise. Being able to find all the necessary cards in one little red folder, will save a vast amount of precious time. Help us to help you, through this important program, by completing the forms either at the center or being taken to your home by an employee of the Center.

Remember, do not open the door to a person you do not know. Call the center to check on the person; 657-7595, 658-2258.

The plan is pretty simple - girls have to win on Friday

by Jamie Pote

Well it doesn't have to take a genius to figure this one out. If the Wilmington High School girls varsity basketball team wins their game this Friday at Hamilton-Wenham, then they will finish the regular season at 9-8 and they would qualify for the state tournament for the fourth straight season. But, if they lose, they will go home having a solid season.

"We are improving on everything - our shooting, our passing, our turnovers, our free throw shooting," said head coach Beth Kapnis after Tuesday's 51-46 thrilling win over North Andover (they lost to them by nine last time). "The kids continue to work hard and we will give it everything we have on Friday."

In order for Wilmington to beat H/W (they lost 43-38 last time) at their place on Friday night, they have to continue to cut down on their turnovers, continue their short passes and make better decisions. And most of all the team has to continue to get the ball inside to the likes of Karen MacArthur, Kristin Flynn and Meredith Cipriani who all not only continue to dramatically improve after every game, but all three of them have shown signs of dominating. MacArthur did her share on Tuesday night.

"Last time we played North Andover, Karen didn't score a single point. Tonight she scored 21 points and she was the difference," Kapnis said.

MacArthur did everything she could have and should have done on Tuesday. She drove to the hoop when she should have, she shot when she should have and she played a tremendous two-way game. Mac scored 8 points and the first half and 13 in the second and most all of those points came as she dominated inside.

Anyway, Wilmington was down seven points at the half at 29-22.

Oops, we forgot a page

In last week's sports pages, because of an error at the press room, there was a Wilmington page that was not inserted into the section, rather a Tewksbury page an instead.

On that page that didn't run, were articles on the Wilmington High School boys basketball team, the girls basketball team and the boys and girls track team. All three of those articles appear in his week's edition as they are added onto their respective stories from this week.

The Town Crier apologies for any inconveniences or confusion.

and MacArthur's four straight points cut the NA lead to 37-35 with 8:55 left. Renee Sbrano's (7 points) end-to-end drive tied the game up at 37 and that gave Wilmington some life. North Andover went back up at

Boys already clinched and they finally beat Masco

by Jamie Pote

Perhaps Friday night will begin the turning point for the Wilmington High School boys basketball team.

Up until Friday, Jim McCune's squad - though very talented - has played very inconsistently all season long. But against Masco at the WHS gymnasium, there was no inconsistency. In fact, the team played it's best game all season as it beat highly touted Masconomet 54-43.

"This was a big win for us. The biggest key for us was rebounding and that was the difference last time we played them - we didn't rebound," McCune said, as his team will be making it's third straight Division III State Tournament Appearance. "I thought the kids did a great job on [Maherg]. We took away their inside game and our defense was excellent throughout the entire game."

The game can be described in three different steps: 1). Eric Clancy dominated in the first half with 17 of his 24 points while hitting his first seven shots; 2). Scott Swieczynski dominated in the second half with 16 of his 19 points including eight points within two minutes which gave Wilmington an 13-point lead at the time; 3). The entire team played exceptional defense which is something they have done consistently all season long.

"Scott had two huge hoops for us and that really broke the game wide-open," said McCune. "Right now though we have to win a few more games. We don't want to be the number 16 seed and play Weston or Bishop Fenwick right away - we want to have a good seed in the tourney and now is the time to turn it on."

Clancy was huge and very impressive in the first half. He hit every shot in the first half that he took, which included three treys, as he scored 10 of those 17 first half points within the first six minutes of the game. With his 17 points, the game was tied at 26 at the halftime break.

Swiza nailed three different shots as McCune stated and that

Tate, Kerrigan and Shea help wrestling squad take third

by Jamie Pote

With just one non-league meet left, the Wilmington High School wrestling team continued their terrific season when they took third place in the Cape Ann League Open Meet this past Saturday.

In this meet, all of the CAL teams squared off against each other at Masconomet High School. And for Wilmington, they had four wrestlers in the finals, with two taking their respective weight classes, while they also had two second place finishes, one third and two fourths. The Cats finished with 131.5 points, as they trailed Lynnfield (151) and Pen-tucket (141.5). Head coach Mike Pimental was happy with what he witnessed.

"The kids wrestled really well. I was very happy with their performances, but on one hand I thought we might have done

Youth wrestlers take Gold

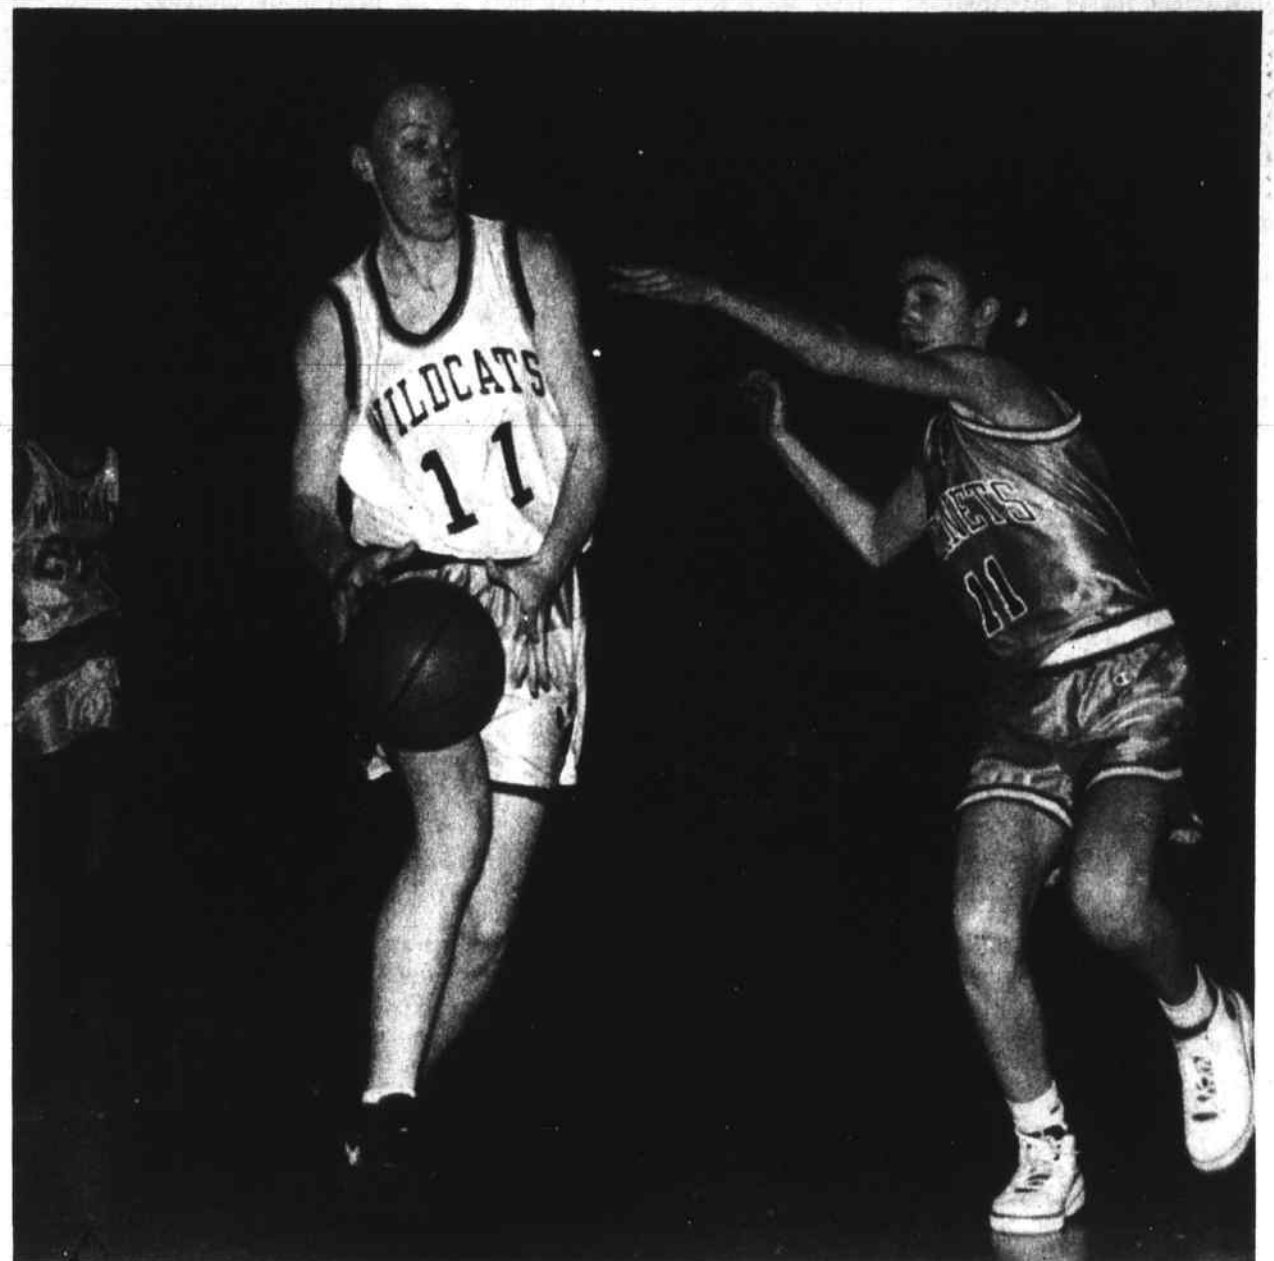

by Jamie Pote

The Wilmington Youth Wrestling (Intermediate School age) squad coached by Allan Tate, recently won a ten team tournament in Melrose. The program is just over a year old and already they are taking tournaments.

There were took different tournaments that were run in Melrose to split up all of the wrestlers, called the Silver and the Gold, and the points from both of them were combined and that's how Wilmington won.

Anyhow, Mike Bonnell and Jordan Camaraha both finished first in their respective weight classes in the Silver Tournament. Aaron Ungresky, Adam Jensen and Ricky Cotto both took seconds, while, Brian Langone rounded it out when he swiped a fourth place.

As for the Gold Tourney, John DiPasquale took third, while, Joe Cotto took fourth.

Junior Karen MacArthur scored a team high 21 points on Tuesday night as the WHS Girls Basketball team needs just one more victory to clinch a state tournament birth. Here, Karen dribbles the ball up court in a recent CAL game. (Photo by Erik Neilson).

Senior point guard Eric Clancy was very impressive Friday night as he tossed in 24 points, including these two on a lay-up during the team's victory against Masco. (Photo by Erik Neilson).

For the boys taking first places were: Pete Otovic (300), Chris Kilburn (600), Jeremy Rufo (1000), Jason Crescenzo (who made the jump from the 600 to the mile and not only did he take first place, but he set a personal best of 5:15), Keith McLaren (shot put) and finally the relay team of PJ Heffernan, Rufo, Kilburn and Otovic (the meet was tied until the relay team won it outright).

Taking second places were: Heffernan (50), Rob Houle (two mile) and Christian Ferraro (hurdles). Third place finishers

Wilmington Squirt B's

Wilmington's Squirt B hockey team, (sponsored by Shea Concrete) got back to their winning ways with an excellent 4-0 shutout victory against Nashoba in a Dual State League game at Hockeytown.

Wildcat goaltender Dean Smith was the star of the day with outstanding play "between the pipes." Smith played the entire game, continually "stonewalling" the opposition. Wilmington's defensive corps of Eddie Lopez, Jason Randall, Joey Pino, Jennifer Corcoran, Richie Buckley and Jimmy Fitzpatrick all hustled well and proved to be a great supporting cast for Smith's star performance.

Wilmington's Mike O'Connor started the scoring parade halfway through the first period on a great setup from Kevin Velardo. The Cats' Marshall Nevins then notched another one for the team with only 52 seconds left on the clock after a super centering pass from Eric Ollila.

The Squirts added another goal in the second stanza as Edzo Tucker fired one in from a nearly impossible angle Ollila earned another assist on this play.

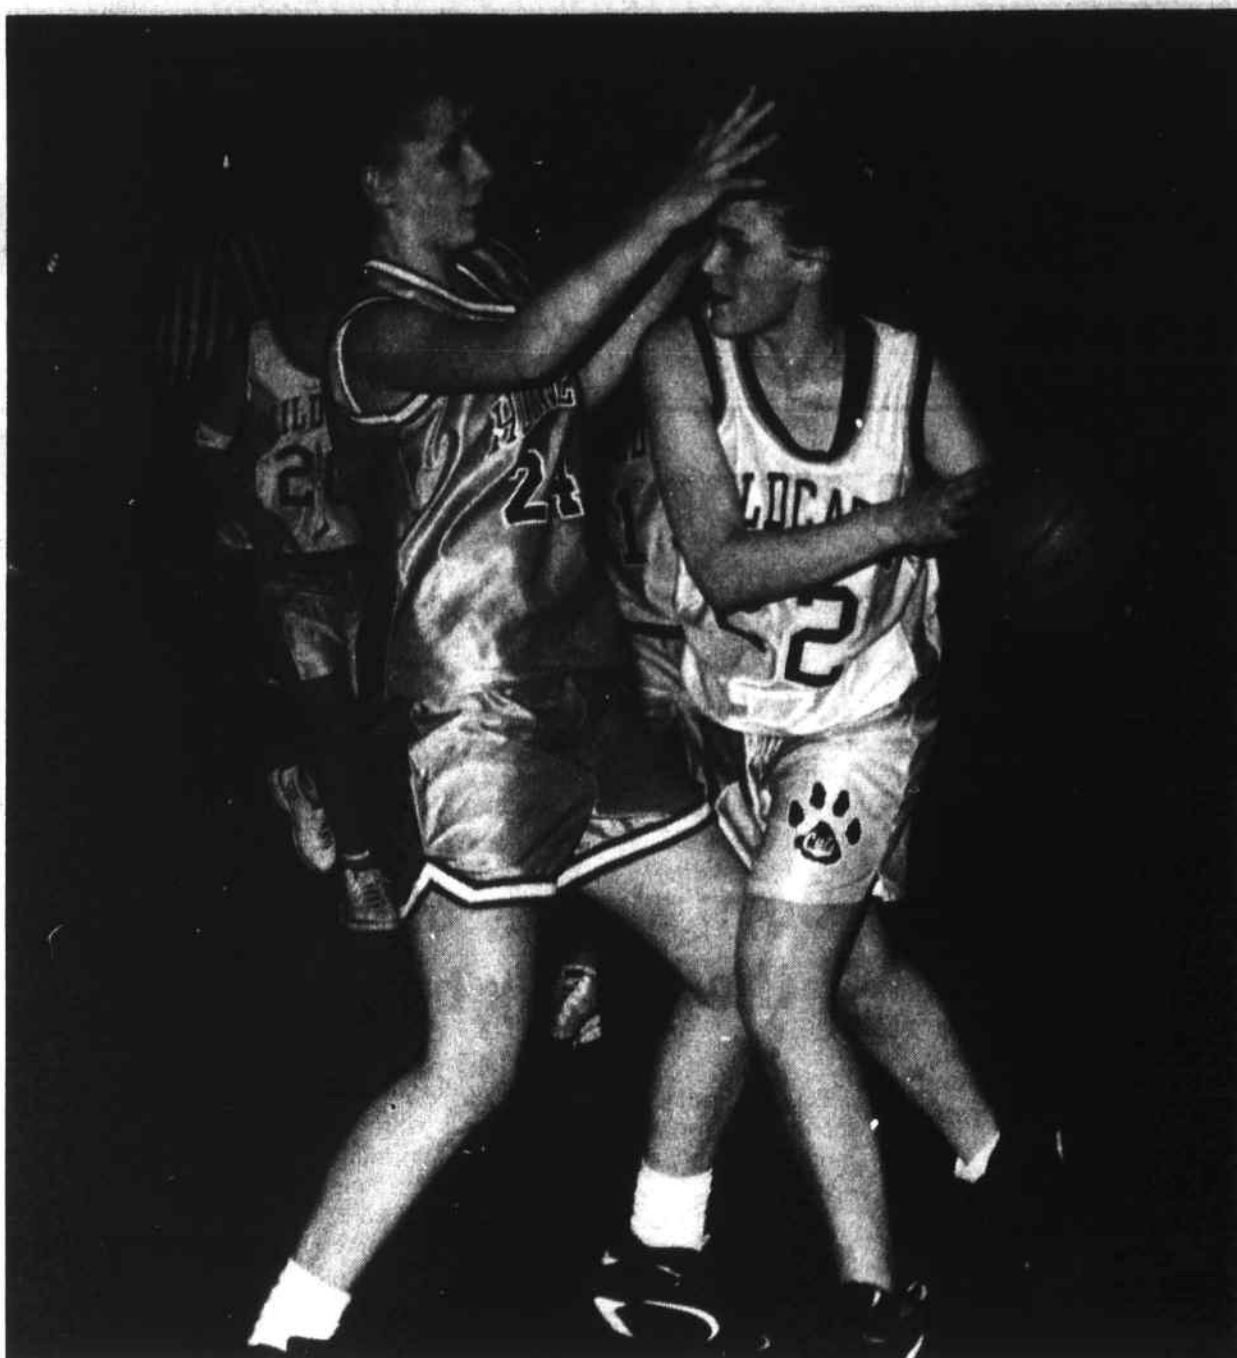

The final goal of the game went to Steve Emery who took a Bryant Buck pass, swept in on the Nashoba net and fired a perfect wrister from about 20 feet into the netting. Wilmington forwards Bobby Sinopoli, Jay Surianello and Jackie Rideout all skated well in this game and went home with a well deserved win.

The Squirt B's next game is scheduled for 8:30 a.m., Saturday, Feb. 22 at Merrimack College when they will face Saugus in a Valley League contest - Go Wildcats!!

Mite C's in action

The Mite C hockey team (sponsored by Wilmington Wiring) played the first place Middlesex Mites. This game showed end to end action and a strong defense by Wilmington goalie Brad Fraser in his first shutout victory 1-0.

The Cats' forwards had many good scoring chances by Dan Metcalf, Vin See and Kyle Abell in the scoreless first period. The second period saw the same action until a nice rush by Brian Garrett down the right side made a pass to Rich LaVita for the shot on goal and the rebound put in by Andrew Fisk.

The third period saw Derek Griffin and Ralph Newhouse with good scoring chances but the story of the game was the great defense played by Derek DeRosa, Shayne Pellerin, Dan Silva and Jim Murray that preserved the 1-0 victory for the Cats.

The team enters the Tourney playing very well and looks forward to the competition.

Sophomore forward Jackie Eldridge hit all six of her free throws in the second half to help lift the WHS girls basketball team to its eighth victory on the season on Tuesday night. (Photo by Erik Neilson).

Mite B's trounce Reading, 9-1

Wilmington 9 Reading 1

The Wilmington Mite B youth hockey team picked up an exciting victory in the Dual State League over this past weekend as they beat Reading by a score of 9-1.

Reading came out strong and scored the first point of the period. With seven minutes remaining, Danny Tobin's mid ice shot would tie the score. Wilmington's outstanding defensive plays made by Brad Fraser and Derek Sullivan would keep Reading scoreless for the remainder of the period.

Second period action started with an exciting goal, scoring by Wilmington as David Rizzo put them on the board for the second time. The third goal came minute later with great offensive hustle by Nicholas Yeomelakis who assisted Dana Steenbruggen.

On an offensive attack, Derek Flodin would break out from mid ice only to put Wilmington on the board again. Continued attempts by Shane Pellerin to score would not prevail and with only seconds remaining in the period, Michael Earle fired a wrist shot only to be denied by the goal post.

The third period continued with a barrage of offensive attacks beginning with Eric Svensson flip pass to Steven Stokes for the goal. Wilmington continued to pursue on its game winning conquest when Fraser assisted Robert MacKinnon for the next goal.

Continued attempts by Reading on Shane Foley would not prevail due to his outstanding goal tending. The next three goals for Wilmington would come with three minutes left in the game by Michael Earles, Keith Irwin and Nicholas Yeomelakis.

Cape Ann 8 Wilmington 2

The Wilmington Mite B team, (sponsored by the Wilmington Arena Authority), lost against a very good Cape Ann A team by the score of 8-2. The final score was no indication of how the game was played although Cape Ann is in first place in the Valley League A Division.

Cape Ann got on the board first, just minutes into the game as they were just able to slip it under the pads of Steven Stokes who played big in net for Wilmington. The two teams traded offensive rushes throughout the rest of the first period. Good fore checking by forwards Robby MacKinnon, David Rizzo and Dana Steenbruggen to keep the puck in the Cape Ann end.

Toward the end of the period Danny Tobin took the puck in on a breakaway shooting it in while lying on the ice, as he tripped going in. The period ended tied one all.

The second period started with Wilmington getting a quick goal as it went in off a Cape Ann player. With the lead, Wilmington put the pressure on with good end to end rushes by Zachary Church, and Eric Svensson, who brought it around the net to feed Tobin but was unsuccessful. Cape Ann was able to tie it half way through the period.

Wilmington went on the power play sending out the line of Mike Earls centering Derek Flodin and Derek Sullivan with Chris Stafford and Shane Foley on the point. It was a good power play as they got two or three quality shots on net, but were unable to beat the Cape Ann net minder. Cape Ann added two more in the period as the second one just broke off Stokes' glove, then the post, before it finally trickled in.

Stokes kept the Wildcats in it at the top of the third making some key saves, a four on one and a dandy that he picked out of the air with his glove. Some more good offense from Foley, who took it strong to the net and Keith Irwin who got a nice shot off from the point, but he and the Wildcats just ran into a hot team. Cape Ann added four more to end the game.

46-42, but Jackie Eldridge hit four free throws on two different occasions (she was 6-6 in the second half good for 10 points) and again the game was tied at 46. MacArthur then gave the Cats the lead with a big rebound and basket off the glass and Wilmington lead 48-46 with exactly two minutes remaining in the game.

North Andover then went to the free throw line two different times and they missed all four shots. Eldridge then came up with a big steal and after doing so she was fouled - she hit both free throws and Wilmington lead by four.

After both teams lost their next possessions, NA missed their shot and Melissa Mather grabbed the rebound and she was fouled. She missed both freebies and NA had the chance to climb back in it as they missed two more freebies and an open shot and Wilmington went with a 51-46 victory.

"I always believed that we were going to pull it out. If I didn't than I shouldn't coach because these kids have worked so hard for me and I should always believe that they will pull it out," Kapnis said.

Although it won't show up in the box score, Meghan Sullivan had a terrific game for the Cats as she pulled down six rebounds in limited duty. Both her and Shano gave the team a good lift on Tuesday with the help it needed from the bench.

Wilm. Box Score vs NA
Wilmington (51): MacArthur 9-13 3-5 21; Eldridge 2-13 6-6 10; Flynn 3-9 2-2 8; Shano 2-7 3-4 7; Cipriani 1-5 1-2 3; Sullivan 1-6 0-0 2; Mather 0-2 0-4 0; Bruno 0-1 0-0 0; King 0-1 0-0 0; McFeeters 0-0 0-0 0. Totals 18-57, 15-24, 51.

Rebounds: Wilmington 35 (Cipriani 9, Flynn 7, Sullivan 6).
Three-point goals: None.

by Jamie Pote

After trailing by a point at halftime, the Wilmington High School girls varsity basketball team really opened up their chances to clinch a spot in the state tournament when they outscored North Reading 35-14 in the second half.

That win not only evened their record at 7-7, but two wins in their last three games will give them a state tournament berth for the fifth straight season and second with head coach Beth Kapnis.

Tuesday's win was everything a coach could ask for. All but one player scored at least a point, the team hustled, they passed well and they rebounded well. Even though North Reading is not the caliber that North Andover and Masconomet is, two of the teams the Cats need to beat to get into the tourney, the win was still a big win and the entire team made it happen.

"We absolutely have a chance to get into the tourney," said Kapnis. "We keep asking the kids whether they want to walk down Broadway or got the the show? Well they showed tonight that they want to get to the show."

Wilmington had three players in double figures in scoring. Kristin Flynn scored all of her 10 points in the first half as she was in foul trouble throughout the entire game, while, Jackie Eldridge scored all of her 15 points in the second half. Karen MacArthur tossed in six points in each of the halves as she finished the night with 12 points and five boards.

Eldridge broke the game wide-open. She came out of the game with 9:24 left in the game as she suffered a minor injury and at that point she scored all of her 16 points in less than 7 minutes of play. And right before she came out, with the Cats leading by six, she increased the lead to 12 in a matter of seconds. She first buried a three-pointer and on the ensuing inbound pass, she stole the ball, scored on a lay-up, got fouled and hit the freebie for a six-point play. Wilmington never looked back.

"Jackie really gave us a boost in the second half. I'm really happy for her because she has had an up-and-down season with her shooting and she is a great shooter," Kapnis said.

Thereafter smart heads up play, not turning the ball over as much, short passes and working the ball around the perimeter was the main reason for the victory.

Besides the trio, Renee Shano and Meredith Cipriani were next in scoring as they both had six, while, Emily King chipped in with four and five boards in limited time and Lindsey Bruno with 3 and Meghan Sullivan with two rounded out the scoring. Melissa Mather also played well as point guard.

Wilmington now has to win two of their last three games to get into the tourney and all three opponents Wilmington has lost to earlier in the season. Masco will be this Friday and to be honest Wilmington really needs to play absolutely perfect just to have a chance as Masco is rated as one of the best teams in Division II behind junior sensation Brianne Stephenson who has already verbally committed herself to UConn.

After that, North Andover (lost by nine) and H/W (lost 43-38) are the most realistic chances for the team to get into the tourney.

NR-Wil Box Score
Wilmington (58): Eldridge 6-14 1-2 15; MacArthur 5-8 2-3 12; Flynn 3-8 4-5 10; Cipriani 3-6 0-0 6; Shano 2-7 2-2 6; King 2-4 0-0 4; Bruno 0-5 3-7 3; Sullivan 1-4 0-0 2; Mather 0-4 0-0 0.

Rebounds: Wilmington 27 (MacArthur, King and Bruno 5 each).

Three-point goals: Eldridge 2.

broke the game wide-open at 42-29 with less than ten minutes to play. Masco finally drilled a three-pointer with about six minutes left in the game and that was their sixth point of the second half up to that point as the Wilmington defense really gave them a lot of problems.

Anyway, Masco cut the lead to 43-35 with four minutes left, but a Masco steal and lay-up made the game interesting at 43-37. Masco cut the lead to four at 45-40, and that was as close as they came as Tim Gillis' steal and pass to Clancy for a lay-up was good and Wilmington went on to win 54-43.

McCune about Clancy's performance. "When he plays under control he is a very good basketball player. He sees the entire floor and he makes good decisions. He had a huge game for us - he even played the entire game."

Wilm. Box Score vs Masco
Wilmington (54): Clancy 9-15 3-5 24; Swiezynski 6-15 7-8 19; Thresher 1-4 3-4 5; T. Gillis 1-7 1-2 3; Tentindo 1-3 0-0 2; R. Gillis 0-2 1-2 1; Ingram 0-4 0-0 0; Bates 0-3 0-0 0; McKenna 0-1 0-0 0. Totals 18-54 15-22 54.

Rebounds (36): Swiezynski (16), Thresher and Bates (5).
Three-point goals: Clancy 3.

Here is last week's article that didn't run in last week's edition because of an error at the press.

by Jamie Pote

For the third straight season and fifth out of the last eight (and as McCune says all but one of those are legit), the Wilmington High School varsity boys basketball team has clinched a spot for the Division III State Tournament.

On Tuesday night, the Cats beat North Reading 62-53 behind Eric Clancy, Dennis Ingram and Scott Swiezynski who combined for 43 points - Clancy led the way with 20 points, five assists and five steals.

"Eric and Dennis had really good games and Scott did his usual," said Jim McCune. "I'm glad we clinched it, but we can't be done now we have to keep working."

Wilmington went on a 6-0 run to close out the first half as they lead 33-27 to unravel a tie. The second half the Cats opened the lead to double digits and from there they held on to a comfortable lead.

Besides Clancy's 20, Swiza's 11 and Ingram's 12 points, Phil Bates chipped in with nine, Tim Gillis with five, Brian Thresher with three and Eric McKenna rounded out the scoring with two points.

On Friday night, the Cats won a big game as it beat Lynnfield 60-51 at WHS. This game was pretty rowdy (just like the hockey game, another cheap, dirty and physical team in this lousy league), but the Cats didn't let the cheap playing of Lynnfield ruin their night.

Anyway, the game started out tied at six and thereafter Wilmington broke it wide-open as they went on a 23-2 run in a span of ten minutes.

With the score 29-10 with about 90 seconds left in the first half, Jeff Arciero went down with an injury to his bad knee and that gave fans a scare. Arciero is everything a coach could ask for - a terrific ball player who would do anything for his team. During the soccer season he went down with a serious knee injury. It was thought that he was going to have surgery to fix his MCL, but he and the doctors decided to do it after the hoop season. So several weeks ago, Arciero's knee felt better so he decided to play again. At about 20%, Arciero has been diving all over the place and playing with a ton of heart, a ton of guts and a ton of determination.

"I don't want to insult any of the other players, but Jeff sacrifices his body for the good of the team," said McCune. "He is out there getting run over, he is diving for loose balls and he gets up everytime. He is willing to do whatever he has to for the good of the team."

However on Tuesday night, McCune said Arciero has decided to have surgery at the start of next week because of the pain and swelling he has continued to have, therefore, he will be sidelined for the rest of the season.

And speaking of injuries, Mike Gargan appears as if he might make a comeback in about 10-14 days from a broken arm. Gargan has also been a big inspiration to the team showing up to every practice and game and really helping out, with the team's success.

Anyway, with a 31-20 lead at halftime, both Eric Clancy and a Lynnfield player got called for technical fouls while battling for a loose ball on the floor. Wilmington then went up 42-28 and with about ten minutes left in the game, Lynnfield got called for another technical foul when one of its players continued to push the ball in the chest of Rich Gillis (real classy league, huh?).

Wilmington continued to have a pretty good distance on Lynnfield as their lead stood at 14 with 2:42 left to go. Lynnfield did cut the lead down a bit, but Wilmington held on to win 60-51.

For Wilmington, they had three players in double figures and all but two of it's ten players that played scored. Scott Swiezynski led with 14 points and 11 rebounds, while, Eric Clancy added 12 points and 7 assists. Others who contributed were: Phil Bates (10 points), Brian Thresher (8 points), Eric McKenna and Arciero (5 points each) and Rich Gillis (4 points).

Wilmington will return home this Friday night against Masco, who is 14-1 and the only CAL team Wilmington hasn't beaten in its two years existence in the league.

better," Pimental said as his team finished the first ever winning season at WHS with an 8-4-1 record. "I was very pleased with Adam Vogel who stepped in from the JV team and he took fourth."

"I was also very pleased with Brian Shea, I think he was the surprise of the tournament. He was seeded fifth and the four wrestlers who were above him had beaten him this season, so we didn't know what to expect. We knew he has the talents and a great work ethic, but we didn't know when it was all going to come together. Well, he finished in third place and I think you will be hearing a lot about Brian Shea in the future," Pimental said.

Going backwards, Shea at the Heavyweight Division, took third like Pimental said. At 215, Mike O'Toole did well as he took a fourth place, but at 189, Sean Kerrigan (21-6 this season) won it all as he won all three of his matches. Vogel stepped in for Jamie Campbell who had a knee injury, and Vogel took fourth place. Billy Harrison at 151, did exceptionally well as he lost in the finals by a point, which earned him a second place finish.

Moving on, Rob Torroni took second at 145, and Ryan Clancy, though he wrestled very well and tough, lost both of his matches. Shawn Sullivan at 140 and Mike Shelley at 135 both went 1-2, while, Billy Tate continued his terrific season winning all three of his matches in the 130 weight class. Tate is now 26-2, this season. Rounding out the last three, Brian Grillo, Dan Bonnell and Paul Cheney all went 1-2.

"If we had won one other match, we would have been golden," Pimental said. "You get ten points just for getting into the finals, but I'm happy with the kids' efforts."

Wilmington was also voted the Cape Ann League Team with the most Sportsmanship at the CAL Open Tourney. Pimental also wanted to thank Dave DeAmato for helping the team this past weekend.

In a 4-3 win over the Twins on June 28, Bere fanned 14 batters in eight and 1/3 innings. That matched his personal best for strikeouts in a game and trailed the all-time ChiSox record by just two.

Who is the only White Sox pitcher ever to win 20 or more games in four consecutive seasons?

By 11:51 PM on 2/12/97

(Editor's Note: The rights of spring begin this month when major league baseball team head south for spring training and Wilmington's Jason Bere will join the Chicago White Sox in Sarasota looking for a pitching position.)

by Jim Goldsmith

A nine year-old lanky, eager boy raced from sandlot baseball played at Rotary Park to the Wildcat varsity baseball team at Wilmington High School. The late summer shadows lengthened over Alumni Stadium and the evening air had a chilly edge. Then varsity baseball Coach Richard J. Scanlon discovered a boy of summer who would make his team and day in a most unexpected way.

As a freshmen at WHS in 1985 coach Scanlon first met young Bere (pronounced Beret as in Green). Today Coach Scanlon says of the youngster, "I liked him as a ball player. He had a tryout as an infielder/pitcher. He had a lot of potential as a pitcher with a very fluid throwing motion-very athletic looking."

Coach, when did you realize Jason might have the talent and dedication to become an outstanding baseball player? The veteran Wildcat coach, who is beginning this 17th season as WHS varsity baseball coach, says "In his junior year he was on the sidelines warming up and he had a lot of movement on his fastball. It was really popping. I realized then it was no ordinary fastball."

Today Coach Scanlon has seen a lot of fine high school baseball players come and go in the Merrimack Valley league, but Jason Bere is the first one he has coached at WHS who has gone on to play professional baseball.

Coach Scanlon is getting focused and organized for the spring season, "Getting loose odds and ends tied up buying equipment, hitting aids and perusing catalogues to get a good deal." Meanwhile, winter casts its icy pall over Alumni Stadium behind WHS. A couple of graceful, swooping seagulls remember better days when Alumni Stadium was the best restaurant in town. Perhaps the pickings will be better come May.

Today number 46 of the Chicago White Sox visualizes Comiskey Park's 400 foot blue padded eight foot wall. will his right elbow hold up and will 'native dancer,' Bere's foch, have the right stuff to keep opposing batters missing it or pounding it into the dirt?

What's with the foch? Is it a new dance step or what? No, the man with the flat, monotone voice explains he was told to develop another pitch if he wanted to succeed in the major leagues. Within 15 minutes the 25 year-old right-handed hurler had mastered the foch. The 6'3" pitcher with the full head of black hair explains, "My foch has the speed of a change up and the action of a fork ball. It's 10-12 mph off my fastball with no hang time (over the plate) hopefully."

What was the best day you ever had at Wilmington's Alumni Stadium? The man with beautiful brown/hazel eyes says,

Jason Bere to S-8

WILMINGTON'S JASON BERE will be heading to Sarasota, Florida this month in his effort to crack the starting rotation of the Chicago White Sox. After a 12-5 season in '93 and a 12-2 season in '94, Jason fell to an 8-15 year last season and is hoping off-season surgery will help him to return to form. A Wilmington High graduate, Jason is considered an all round pitcher and last year had 14 strikeouts in one 8 innings against the Minnesota Twins on June 28th. That's his rookie card on top and this year's edition on the bottom.

•Reading's MIKE CORMIO, a sophomore at Hartwick College, has been participating as a distance runner for the men's track team this season, and has been a standout in both relay and individual events this season. He helped his team take fifth place with a time of 53.75 in a 4X400, and then placed second in the Hamilton Individual in the 800 with a time of 2:03.09.

•Wakefield's PAT NIGRO recently had his best performance to date in goal for the Nichols College men's ice hockey team during a 6-6 tie with Iona College. As a freshman, he made a career-high 52 saves, and currently has a .890 save percentage, a 3.86 goals-against average, and a 3-5-2 record.

About The Towns

Island getaway?

Wetland wonders

"The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has responded favorably to the town's compliance plan to create a single two-acre island in Pillings Pond and would be willing to consider any other proposal developed by the town before the spring," notes the "Lynnfield Villager."

"However, EPA Wetlands Enforcement Coordinator Kyla Bennett stated the town must remain prepared to implement its current plan on schedule in the event any other plan is not approved.

"Pond abutters are not in favor of the proposal to create the island, and neither really are town officials, but consultants felt the island proposal would be a better solution than filling along the shore line since replacing a minimum of two acres for wetlands purposes is required by the EPA. The town also faced a fine of $25,000 per day for noncompliance if they did not develop a plan by November 29, a deadline which had already been extended by the agency.

"Bennett said in her response more details are needed in the town's plan regarding the plant types that will be developed in the restored wetland area. She said since the existing peat material may no longer have viable seed stock in it, the two-acre restoration site would be planted with water lily, spatterdock, pickerel weed or other suitable submerged aquatic bare root stock and the plan should also provide a planting scheme.

"In order to re-establish the submerged aquatic vegetation that was dredged by the town, Bennett stated the final elevation should be lower than the elevation proposed. The plan proposes a final pond elevation of 97.2 ft. with the island of restored wetland above that. She said the vegetation to be restored typically grows at permanent water depths of one or more feet and therefore, the elevation of the island should be one foot below the proposed final elevation.

"The EPA is also requesting that the plan include a method to prevent planted material from being destroyed by waterfowl, such as fencing the area until the plants are established.

"The town has also been instructed to include a schedule of when the work will be done and a monitoring schedule. According to Bennett, the site must be monitored for a minimum of five years.

"In response to the town re-depositing some of the material into the deeply dredged areas, Bennett stated the EPA would prefer to see the town maximize the wetland restoration area rather than raising the pond depth.

"Bennett said the EPA will allow some fill material to be moved in order to create a roadway to remove the partially submerged heavy equipment from the pond. She noted that this work will be allowed to proceed as it is necessary to complete the restoration.

"The town asked in its plan that they be allowed to make an alternate restoration plan at any time prior to implementation of

"THE GREATEST VALENTINE"
The greatest gift that we can give, Cannot be purchased in a store. It lasts far longer than we live, For it endures forevermore.

It's not a picture framed in gold,
Or string of pearls or diamond ring.
It's not a sable, mink or stole,
Or jeweled crown for queen or king.

The precious gift to give is "Love,"
We cannot keep it for ourselves.
It's given to us by God above,
To give and share - for it's "His Love."

with much experience in their fields.

On February 18 Dr. Steven Pendery, Chief of the Archeology Branch of the National Park Service Northeast Cultural Resources Center, will talk about "Archeology of the American Revolution in Greater Boston."

Dr. Brian Donahue, Director of Education at the Land Institute, will explain, "The Fall and Rise of Commons in Concord" on February 25.

"Rebels Under Sail: The American Navy in the Revolution" will be the focus of Dr. William M. Fowler, Jr.'s lecture on March 4. He is the Chair of the History Department at Northeastern University and the editor of The New England Quarterly.

Concluding the lecture series on March 11 will be David Bitterman, Project Manager of the Building Conservation Branch of the National Park Service Northeast Cultural Resources Center, telling about "Historic Architecture and the Restoration of the Job Brooks House in Lincoln."

For more information about the lecture series, call Minute Man National Historical Park at 508-369-6993.

the restoration this spring. She said any changes to the final approved restoration plan are subject to the EPA's approval and any approved changes must comply with the schedule of restoration.

"She concluded her response stating, 'The EPA is flexible as to the location of the restoration area; the restored wetlands can be located anywhere within the boundaries of Pillings Pond, either as islands or close to the shore. However, any plan you develop must include the restoration of a minimum of two acres of submerged aquatic vegetation, and must include the removal of all fill material in the pond.'"

Three cheers for Jim Standish!

"It is sometimes difficult to put a monetary value on the work of volunteers, but hospital officials agree Jim Standish of Stoneham is worth his weight in gold," notes the "Stoneham Independent."

"Jim is saving the hospital a bundle of money," said Bruce Moore, supervisor of communications and transport. "He fixes all the wheelchairs, attaches IV poles and oxygen tanks to them to accommodate patients and repairs stretchers when he runs out of wheelchairs. And when he is done with the stretchers, he goes upstairs and transports patients or does whatever else he's asked to do."

"Standish, a resident of Stoneham since 1939, retired from his work as a sheet metal-air conditioning mechanic after 35 years."

"Following surgery to repair the rotator cuff in his shoulder, he found himself with extra time on his hands and wanted to keep busy. When he began volunteering at BRMC in 1993, his supervisors discovered his mechanical ability and immediately made him the 'wheelchair repair man.'"

"I enjoy keeping active," said Standish, who also drives the bloodmobile for the Red Cross in Melrose and is active in the Masons, the Shriners and the Stoneham Baptist Church choir. "I'm more busy now than when I was working eight hours a day."

"The 76-year-old volunteer stays young by baby-sitting his great grandchildren every Thursday and recently began pursuing his hobby of researching genealogy on the information superhighway."

"If you'd like to chat with the 'Wheelchair Repair Man' log on and you'll find him at mylestan@aol.com."

Bay State Lobster in Lynnfield

For over the past 60 years there's only been one prominent landmark for seafood in the downtown Boston area, The Bay State Lobster Company. The Bay State Lobster Company will now indulge the rest of the North Shore area with its exquisite seafood at its brand new state-of-the-art facility in Lynnfield, Ma.

Richard and Joseph Faro, co-owners of the renowned Bay State Lobster Company, comment that on weekends and other special times of the year, it sometimes becomes difficult to beat the crowds and long lines that congregate at their Boston location. However with the opening of the new Lynnfield store customers, old and new, can avoid the commute into downtown Boston and receive the same famous quality seafoods and live Maine lobsters on a more regional basis.

In addition to carrying delicious seafood, the new Lynnfield store will be a part of a new concept for the Bay State Lobster Company. The new Lynnfield store will be the first Bay State Lobster store to accommodate customers with a sit down restaurant and a fabulous "food to go" section, where you may purchase quality seafood products, either fried or broiled, to eat in or simply take home for a tasty meal in heat sealed containers.

The Faro brothers, who also operate the Bay State Real Estate and Land Procurement Program, are also announcing the grand opening of two new additional Bay State Lobster retail/restaurant seafood outlets which will open during the month of February in the greater Boston area.

Jason Bere From S-1

"For me in high school we missed the state tournament by one game (in '89). In a game against Tewksbury, our BIG rival, we beat them (4-3) and I struck out the last three guys and my friend (Eric Le Blanc, an outfielder) hit a home run." When Coach Scanlon was asked the significance of that game the veteran coach with a career record of 207 wins and 158 losses says, "It was very important to keep our tournament hopes alive. We lost the next game, and missed (a tourney bid) by one-tenth of a point." Now the interview was gaining momentum and the 25 year old pitching ace was feeling comfortable and confident. Just the way he does after getting the leadoff batter out. Time to pop THE QUESTION - the one every fan wants to ask. Jason please tell me about your right elbow that has kept you off the diamond and on the disabled list? The man in the gray and red Reebok warm up suit with designer sneakers says, "I had arm problems in 1995 and last year and was placed on the disabled list. I was sent to the minor leagues for a rest, but the problem needed to be solved medically."

"I couldn't play catch without hurting. On September 13, (1996) Dr. James Andrews of Birmingham, AL operated after I got three opinions from three different doctors." Today after three months of intensive physical therapy at Children's Hospital, Boston, Jason sees the winter of his discontent melting.

"In mid December I went to see Dr. Andrews and he said that three months after surgery my right elbow looks as good as if the operation had taken place four months ago. My age helped."

Time for the catcher to flash number one under this mitt. Batters know enough not to crowd the plate when number 46 goes into his deliberate, free and fluid motion; the one opposing batters in the Merrimack Valley League feared and respected.

Bere's heater (fastball) has been described as sneaky fast. The kind that's on top of the batter and explodes into Ron Karkovice's mitt faster than 90 miles per hour.

Jason that was in 1994. What about 1997? The modest young man says, "It (his right elbow) gets fatigued. The arm is in full extension. It's definitely a strike against you not pitching the previous years. It's no fun at the bottom. I've had two good years, two bad years and one year on the disabled list. I've adapted to hitters. Now I plan to have the hitters adapt to me, and what I'm doing. I'm looking forward to coming back full strength."

Last summer, in July, you spoke with Roger Clemens who was then playing for the Boston Red Sox. Why did you telephone him and what advice did he give you? The Wilmington's native "He found out I was hurt. I was a freshman at WHS (in 1986) when he struck out 20 guys (against Seattle). I look up to him, watched him and emulated him."

In their phone conversation last summer Clemens asked, "You 'scuffling' (having problems)? He told me to just take it easy-it's hard to deal with. Don't push yourself. Give it (your arm) rest. Nobody will remember what you do now - they remember what you do down the stretch. Your team is going to be there in the stretch."

The pitcher with the deceptive fast ball rests his head on his left arm as he prepares to field the next question. In high school Coach Scanlon believes you were as good a pitcher as Steve Bedrosian who played for Methuen High School and the Philadelphia Phillies and Tommy Glavine who pitched for Billerica High School.

Today Glavine is one of the Atlanta Braves' best pitchers. This writer senses Jason is both flattered and embarrassed. The well conditioned athlete says, "It's a great compliment. Tommy is considered one of the best going. Hopefully I can live up to it."

Coach Scanlon recalls his star Wildcat pitcher had a "droll sense of humor" which led to the next question. Do you still have it and has it helped you get through a tough day, week or year?

The good fielding pitcher handles the question cleanly the way he fields a baseball - career .949 average, 1993-1995. "I try not to be too serious. I'm pretty even keeled. When I call home and they ask, 'How did you pitch?' I say, 'Pretty good.' I just try to have a good time. Basically I'm living a dream (the way Ray Kinsella, Kevin Costner) did in the movie Field of Dreams. I love what I'm doing and am extremely fortunate to be able to do it. I don't EVER take it for granted. It takes athletes a lot of dedication and hard work, and skill to get to the top. I wouldn't trade it for anything at all. I'm just looking forward to throwing again."

By the time you read this story Jason Bere will have a new one year contract with the Chicago White Sox. He will head south to Sarasota, FL for the Chicago White Sox's spring training camp and dreams of a 20 win season.

While Jason's success has meant lifestyle changes it hasn't changed his modest, down-to-earth perspective on life, family and community. This writer threw one last change of pace question at Jason Bere and he handled it easily and with characteristic honesty.

Do you have any lasting memories of your Boston debut at Fenway Park. He said, "Fenway Park is where I went as a kid. My mother used to give me tickets to see the Red Sox. I'd take a couple of friends. The first game I pitched at Boston, in 1993 as a rookie, Mike Lavelle, my catcher, said 'don't look at the Big red letters on the (left field) scoreboard. Focus on me.'"

In his Field of Dreams Ray Kinsella asked a prophetic question which keeps the audience focused on the main character's dream to bring back the old stars of the Chicago White Sox. Is there enough magic in the moonlight to make this dream come true?

Soon the boys of summer led by "shoeless" Joe Jackson emerge from the left field cornfield. In a touching moment Ray Kinsella meets his dad who hadn't been there for his son in youth and they play a game of catch.

Every baseball fan in Wilmington, North Andover (the Beres' new home) and New England would love to see #46 come down the runway, out of the visitor's dugout at Fenway

Park, tip his black Chicago White Sox cap to a cheering, sellout crowd. Go for YOUR field of dreams Jason

Woodchips

Blackie Vega, Frank Hogan and Sal DeCarlo always try to go to church 'late' enough to 'miss' the collection. Last Sunday they made the mistake of arriving too early. The usher was approaching with the collection basket so Blackie Vega pretended to faint and Frank Hogan and Sal DeCarlo carried him out. Folks, all that effort just to save a dime apiece.

stove, there's been a power failure at my house." "Sure you can," the neighbor replied, "but what caused it?" Sonny smiled and said, "Failure to pay the electric bill."

At a grave-site a clergyman said, "will someone say something GOOD about the departed brother?" You could hear a pin drop-nobody said a word. The Clergyman repeated in a stern voice, "we are NOT LEAVING until someone says something GOOD about Harry!" An impatient voice from the rear shouted, "O'Kay! his brother Danny is WORSE!"

I remember when Father Dan said, "We are on this earth to help others." Uncle John Shea turned to his friend Rowan Fitzgerald and asked, "Rowan, what are the OTHERS here for?"

Tony Stack told me that his great grandfather was on the police force in Ireland. He wouldn't take a quarter, if he couldn't FOLD it he wouldn't take it.

The Bingo caller didn't show up for the weekly church Bingo. Bravely the pastor marched right up and started calling the numbers. In a short time the people shouted, "Slow down Father, slow down." "Well, that's a switch," the pastor said, "Sundays they tell me to hurry up and get the sermon over with."

I asked the high school football coach, "Your quarterback sure is a great player but how is he scholastically?" "Well" the coach said, "He makes Straight A's but his B's are a little crooked." "May I ask him a question?" "Sure, go right ahead." "How much is 7 times 7?" The kid smiled at me and said, "49." The coach shouted, "Aw, Chipper, give the kid another chance!"

I told my Aunt Nora, "I read that an ordinary speech becomes a GREAT speech if the orator knows when to Shut up."

Aunt Nora looked at me, pointed a finger and said, "that goes for Writers TOO."

With a grim look, Bobby Burns settled himself in the barber chair. "Before you start," Bobby said to the barber, "I know the weather's terrible, I know nothing about horse racing and I don't care who wins the football game. I don't wish to talk about politics, hunting or fishing. Now, get on with cutting my hair." "If you don't mind, Mr. Burns," the barber said calmly, "I'll be able to do a better job on your hair if you don't talk so much."

Mario (my cousin from Brooklyn) was beaten up in front of a tavern. The police asked him, "Can you describe the man who beat you?" Mario groaned, "That's what I was doing sir, when he hit me!"

Angelo Quaganti got a job selling vacuum cleaners door to door. After his first day the store manager asked, "How did it go today?" "Rotten!" Angelo replied, "I got nothing but insults at almost every house I called." "That's funny," the manager said, "I've been on the road for over thirty years selling. I've had doors slammed in my face, my sample vacuum thrown in the street. I've been tossed down flights of stairs but, I have NEVER been INSULTED!"

I took Kathy out to dinner. I asked the head waiter, "How long for a table sir?" "One hour or ten dollars, whichever comes first."

My niece Maureen was the captain of the high school cheerleaders. I heard her practice one day, "God Bless Pa, God Bless Ma, God Bless me, Rah, Rah, Rah!"

George Gould took the "pledge" on New Year's Day. A counselor was giving George a test to see if he was still behaving. "Tell me Mr. Gould," he asked, "what does the name Gordon mean to you?" "It's the name of a General." "What does Haig mean to you?" "He was an English Earl." "O'Kay the last one, what does VAT 69 mean to you?" "I don't know but I think it's the Pope's telephone number." All I can say George "I'll DRINK to that!"

Jimmy Bruce is a retired State Trooper. I asked him, "Jimmy, what is the name of the machine detectives have that can tell when a person is lying?" Jimmy smiled and said, "Chipper, I have one at home, her name is Carol my wife."

A farmer was asked, "what are you going to do with the $1,000,000 you won in the lottery?" He replied, "I'm going to keep on farming 'till the money is all GONE."

Realtor Names in the News

Pat Black

FITZGERALD & ASSOCIATES PRESENT THEIR EXPERTS

Pat Black has been a resident of Reading for 24 years. Both of her daughters, Laura and Amy, graduated from RMHS and also from college.

Black has been very involved in all aspects of the real estate business. Her professional accomplishments have been acknowledged by her peers. She was elected to the Board of Directors of the Eastern Middlesex Association of Realtors and has been serving for the past two and a half years. She has achieved the designations of GRI (Graduate Realtor Institute) and CBR (Certified Buyer Representative).

As a consistent multi-million dollar producer, Pat has acquired the skill and expertise required to insure a smooth sale. "Patience and understanding are key in the buying and selling of residential homes. Emotions are high and it's my job to keep everyone on track."

Pat has been doing just that for the past eight years. She must be doing something right: 75% of her business in 1996 was the direct result of personal referrals.

Karen received her realtor designation in 1991, and she has been employed with Fitzgerald & Associates ever since. She has received her CBR (Certified Buyer's Representative) designation, and has served on the Realtor Community Service Committee of the Eastern Middlesex Association of Realtors.

She is a multi-million dollar producer, and her background as a former human resource counselor has served her well in dealing with clients and customers. "I take a lot of pride in getting to closing day, knowing that I have a satisfied seller and buyer. That's rewarding."

Helping a young couple purchase their first home is rewarding as is helping an elderly person with the emotional decision to scale down.

"It's an honor to be part of this profession. Homes are our product, but people are our most important concern."

Both Pat and Karen may be reached at Fitzgerald & Associates Real Estate, 508-664-4709.

February 14-17

Home, Garden & Patio Show

The 1997 New England Home, Garden & Patio Show, a four day event featuring special appearances by celebrity experts on home repair, cooking and gardening, arrives at the Valley Expo Center at the Methuen Mall Friday, February 14 through Monday, February 17, 1997.

Introducing innovative ideas for home improvement, repair, remodeling and decorating, the 1997 New England Home, Garden & Patio Show is a preview of trends and techniques for both indoor and outdoor spring projects. The show provides homeowners the one-stop opportunity to review products, services and gain valuable advice on everything from lawn care to home construction.

Highlighting the show, superstars of home and garden will be on hand each day to answer questions and offer insight in their fields of expertise. On Friday, February 14 Richard Trethewey, licensed Master and Journeyman Plumber featured on This Old House, will turn complex problems into entertaining-visual essays.

On Sunday, February 16, General Contractor on This Old House Tom Silva will visit the show allowing audience members a behind the scenes peak at the most recent projects.

On Sunday, February 16, Greater Boston's plant authority, Paul Parent will take his WRKO radio show Paul Parent on Plants on the road for a live remote appearance. Mr. Parent will provide insightful tips and green thumb advice for every gardener from beginner to expert.

Meet epicurean Mary Ann Esposito, host of PBS's Ciao Italia, on Monday, February 17 and Roger Swain, host of Victory Garden on Monday also.

The show will also feature industry exhibitors from across

New England providing helpful products and hands on demonstrations. Whether it be installing a new bathroom fixture or planting a garden, experts from all fields will be on site including real estate, development, landscaping and construction.

Homeowners investigating or planning future projects should not miss this rare opportunity to speak with dozens of professionals gathered under one roof.

The 1997 New England Home, Garden & Patio Show will be at the Valley Expo Center Friday February 14-Monday February 17. Admission is only $5 per person. For more information call (508)687-1010.

Turning your bathroom into a refuge

More and more homeowners are creating bathroom retreats that provide relief from the stress that plagues modern life. By adopting a more European attitude, in which the bathroom is viewed as an in-home spa, Americans are moving beyond the utilitarian mentality that guided bathroom design in the past.

Along with the enhanced relaxation enjoyed by homeowners who take this approach, updating a bathroom also is a smart economic move. According to the "1996-97 Cost vs. Value Report," published by REMODELING Magazine (October 1996 Hanley-Wood, Inc.), remodeling a bathroom generates paybacks to owners who sell their homes within one year ranging from 66 percent to 91 percent, depending on the region of the country. Adding an additional bath earns an even greater payback, ranging from 77 percent to 106 percent, again depending on the geographic region.

The average number of baths in new homes has increased from one to two-and-a-half in the last decade.

"Homeowners are sometimes overwhelmed by the number of options they have," said Ann Marie Dello Iacono of Home Depot. "For instance, Kohler, a leader in this field, offers more than 50 whirlpools and 45 showers."

A good way to begin working our way through the selection process, advises Dello Iacono, is to ask yourself some basic questions:

Is this a master or a family bathroom? If it is a shared bath, consider separating the sinks from the rest of the room so more than one person can use the space at a time.

Do you prefer showers or baths?

What do you want to store in the bathroom?

Will two people use this bathroom simultaneously to get ready for work or school in the morning. If so, dual sinks will make the morning routine considerably easier.

Here are some tips from bath experts to help you maximize the comfort of your bath, as well as your home's resale value.

Good lighting is particularly important in a bathroom. Installing lights on the sides of mirrors, in addition to the usual top lighting bar, provides good cross illumination for Baby Boomers who are entering a stage of life where their eyesight is changing. Magnifying mirrors are also a plus, especially for makeup application.

Since the bath is a high-traffic area, durable easy-to-care for flooring is a must. Because the floor area of most baths is relatively small, you probably can afford to maximize the visual impact of the entire room with top-grade flooring.

Small bathrooms will appear larger if you stick to light colors for fixtures, vanities and walls. Wall coverings should be in light, warm tones that complement skin colors.
